Read the following passage carefully and choose the most appropriate answer to the question out of the four alternatives.

Passage:

Great books do not spring from something accidental in the great men who write them. They are the effluence of their very core, the expression of the life itself of the authors. And literature cannot be said to have served its true purpose until it has been translated into the actual life of him who reads. It is the vast reservoir of true ideas and emotions. In a world deprived of literature, the broad, the noble, the generous would tend to disappear and life would be correspondingly degraded, because the wrong idea and the petty emotion would never feel the upward pull of the ideas and emotions of genius. Only by conceiving a society without literature can it be clearly realised that the function of literature is to raise the plain towards the top level of the peaks. Literature exist so that where a man has lived finely, ten thousands may afterwards live finely. it is a means of life, it concerns the living essence.

Question 171

How have great books been written?

- A By an accidental means.
- B By great men who write them.
- C By men who think too much.

D By men who imagine sometimes.

Answer: B

Question 172

What does the words "effluence of their very core" mean?

A Expression which is the outflow from the heart of the author.

B Expression which is the influence from people's talk.

C Expression of things that the author may have thought of.

D Expression that the author wrote accidentally.

Answer: A

Question 173

Literature cannot be said to have served its true purpose until it has been _____ into the actual life of the person who reads.

A transfigured

B transgressed

C translated

D transmuted

Answer: C

Question 174

If a world is deprived of literature, what would happen to the broad, the noble and the generous?

A They would be living a free life without care.

B They would worry themselves into petty issues.

C They would tend to disappear and life would be correspondingly degraded.

D They would celebrate life.

Answer: C

Question 175

What is the function of literature?

A To raise the plain above sea level.

B To raise everything so that it does not sink to the sea level.

Read the following passage carefully and choose the most appropriate answer to the question out of the four alternatives.

Passage:

A classless society, however, does not mean a society without leaders. It means rather one in which every citizen becomes for the first time eligible for leadership, if he has the power to lead. It means a society in which every one is given, as far as possible, the chance to develop this power by the widest diffusion of educational opportunities in the broadest sense, and by keeping the career wide open to talents of every useful kind. It is often said that a community of equals will not allow itself to be led. But in fact, most men are, in most things, very willing to be led, and more in danger of giving their leaders too much than too little authority, especially if they are free to choose them, and assured that the leaders cannot exploit them for personal economic advantage; leadership, so far from disappearing, will come into its own in a truly democratic society. But it is likely to be a more diffused leadership than we are used to; for a better-nurtured people will have more citizens with strong wills and minds of their own, wishful to lead; some in politics, some in industry, and some in professions and arts of life.

This is the idea of a classless society. Some will reject it as contrary to their interest, some as utopian and against 'Human nature,' for there are some who deny, indeed if not in word, that the aim of society should be to promote the greatest happiness and welfare of the greatest number and others who hold, with pessimistic honesty, that most men must be driven and not led.

Question 176

According to the passage, a classless society is _____

- A A society in which there are no leaders
- B A society where no one is willing to be led.
- C A society where everyone would not give authority to their leaders
- D A society where everyone can become a leader.

Answer: D

Question 177

What kind of leadership would a classless society have ?

- A Leaders would not exploit others for their personal advantage.
- B Leaders would not have too much authority over people.
- C Many would develop leadership in the field of their interest.
- D Every person would have a reason to lead.

Answer: C

Question 178

What kind of people would be ideal for a classless society?

- A People who are assertive enough is lead.
- B People who book no opposition.
- C People with conviction in their ideas.
- D People willing to innovate.

Answer: C

Question 179

Read the following passage carefully and choose the most appropriate answer to the question out of the four alternatives.

Passage:

Translation is of immense importance today. With rapid commercialization, the narrow barriers between nations are fast disappearing. In the past, there used to be practically no communication amongst nations. The modern world, however, is no longer divided into water-tight compartments. We are heading towards one world, thanks to development in the fields of communication among nations today. Translation forges bonds of unity amongst people who speak different languages. Even if we do not know a particular language or the literature of a particular nation, we can know its richness and the depth of its ideas through translation. Translation also helps in understanding the rich cultural heritage of a nation. Thus a multi-lingual person has a multi-focal view of the world. Translation also serves as a mode of cultural exchange in a multi-lingual country. It plays a pivotal role in the evolution of a pluralistic national identity. The achievement of translation is both the globalisation of culture and the promotion of intra and inter-cultural bonding. One may appreciate and enjoy through translation the plays of Shakespeare even if one does not know the English language. One may also know the rich world of Homer, Virgil, Dante, Milton, Dickens, Hardy, Leo Tolstoy, Zola and Munshi Prem Chand through translation. Translation responds to our intellectual, cultural and spiritual needs. It is necessary for information and for the exchange of ideas. Translation, which has hitherto been neglected and marginalized, has assumed importance with rapid globalization. It is now considered an art which requires mastery and perfection. A good translator is able to do away with superficiality and has a clear understanding of the text to be translated. He should have mastery over the subtle nuances of the language from which he is translating. Translating a passage of one language into another literally is not only impossible but would also result in incorrect grammar and syntax.

Question 181

According to the author, what does translation do?

- A Translation divides the world into compartments.
- B Translation brings together people speaking different languages.
- C Translation gives rise to animosity among people.
- D Translation is a means to succeed in the practical world.

Answer: B

Question 182

How does translation help us?

- A It creates a babel of tongues.
- B It denies us access to other cultures.
- C It provides an insight into the cultural heritage of a nation/ people.
- D It helps us to understand the ideas of the other languages.

Answer: C

Question 183

Globalisation has

- A Neglected the importance of translation.
- B Made us aware of the importance of translation.
- C Allowed us to enjoy the works of great writers.
- D Given translation its rightful place.

Answer: D

Question 184

What should be the approach of a good translator?

- A Have mastery over his language.
- B Have good knowledge of the other literature.
- C Do away with the nuances and express only the main ideas.
- D Do away with the unwanted things and express only the main ideas.

Answer: D

Question 185

Read the following passage carefully and choose the most appropriate answer to the question out of the four alternatives.

Passage:

The Eiffel Tower is an iron lattice tower located on the Champ de Mars in Paris. It was named after the engineer Gustave Eiffel, whose company designed and built the tower. Erected in 1889, it was initially criticised by some of France's leading artists and intellectuals for its design, but has become both a global cultural icon of France and one of the most recognisable structures in the world. The tower is the tallest structure in Paris and the most visited monument in the world; 6.98 million people ascended it in 2011. The tower received its 250 millionth visitor in 2010.

The tower is 324 metres, about the same height as an 81-storey building. During its construction, the Eiffel Tower surpassed the Washington Monument to assume the title of the tallest man-made structure in the world. The tower has three levels for visitors, with restaurants on the first and second. Tickets can be purchased to ascend by stairs or lift to the first and second levels. Although there are stairs to the third and highest level, these are usually closed to the public and it is generally only accessible by lift. Read the following passage carefully and choose the most appropriate answer to the question out of the four alternatives.

Passage:

Is there any difference between "genius" and "talent" ? We generally feel that a man of genius is in some way higher than a man of talent; and that talented men are more common than genius. This is true, but it is rather vague. Genius implies "very extraordinary gifts or native powers, especially as displayed in original creation, discovery, expression or achievement; phenomenal capacity regarded as relatively independent of instruction and training". Talent, on the other hand, consists of "mental endowments or capacities of superior character; marked mental ability". "Talent" is more the capacity to learn to do a thing well; but "genius" is an inborn inspiration that drives a man to do a thing with original excellence. As Meredith said, "Genius does what it must, and talent does what it can".

Shakespeare in drama and poetry, Isaac Newton in science, Napoleon in war, Beethoven in music, were geniuses; many well-known poets, scientists, generals and musicians have been men of talent.

Question 191

What is the general view of a "genius" and a "talented" man?

- A A genius is more superior than other men
- B A talented man is a skilful man.
- C A genius is superior to the man of talent and that talented men are more common than genius.

Instructions

Read the following passage carefully and choose the most appropriate answer to the question out of the four alternatives.

Passage:

Marie Curie was one of the most accomplished scientists in history. Together with her husband, Pierre, she discovered radium, an element widely used for treating cancer, and studied uranium and other radioactive substances. Pierre and Marie's amicable collaboration later helped to unlock the secrets of the atom.

Marie was born in 1867 in Warsaw, Poland, where her father was a professor of physics. At an early age, she displayed a brilliant mind and a casual personality. Her great exuberance for learning prompted her to continue with her studies after high school. She became disgruntled, however, when she learned that the university in Warsaw was closed to women. Determined to receive a higher education, she defiantly left Poland in 1891 entered the Sorbonne, a French university, where she earned her master's degree and doctorate in physics.
