SECTION-A

[Marks : 15]

(Reading)

1. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow: [8]

(1) A sense of humour is what separates man from other living beings. Man knows how to laugh at others and even at himself. We, human beings cannot do without humour. We cannot enjoy our conversations, our dialogues if we cannot add humour to them to make others smile or laugh. We don't know how to spend our time when we are alone or sad. We need company of others and humour lightens our day and we share common interests with others. When we know what to say and when to say it helps us to build healthy relationships. Sometimes humour tends to lead us into difficult situations when we exaggerate our point and thus tease others.

(2) Humour used with a healthy mind is always successful. It makes us laugh and also amuses the person we are laughing with. In such a situation we gain trust and generate a feeling of cooperation. We lose our feeling of loneliness; we accept that we too can make mistakes and we look for good in others. Most important is a sense of fellow feeling a sense of belonging.

However, a situation may develop in which we may lose our sense of humour. In that case we either become offensive to others and become defensive for ourselves. We either blame others or blame ourselves for humorous remarks made by us or for us. Important thing to note is what is said and how it is said.

In any case, humour is part of soft skills required to communicate with others. We need a few well-chosen words first to draw the attention of others and then make a serious point without becoming offensive.

Answer the questions given below with the help of options that follow:

- (i) How can we finish our sadness and loneliness? [1]
- (A) by making fun of others
- (B) by laughing at ourselves
- (C) by sharing humour with others
- (D) by killing our time
- (ii) How is man different from animals? [1]
- (A) Man cooks his own food.
- (B) Man knows how to laugh.
- (C) Man is cultured and animals are not.
- (D) Men don't fight like animals.
- (iii) When does humour create difficulties for us? [1]
- (iv) Why is healthy humour always successful? [1]
- (v) What is an important thing to note while making a humorous remark? [1]
- (vi) Which two soft skills are required for good conversation? [1]
- (vii) Find words from the passage which mean the same as the following:
- (a) makes cheerful / makes happy (para 1) [1]
- (b) produce / create (para 2) [1]

2. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow: [7]

- (1) The little island of Crete is in the Mediterranean Sea. Once upon a time there was a fine civilisation that flourished there. At Knossos in Crete there was an enormous palace and we have the remains of the palace still. In this palace there were bathrooms and water pipes, which some ignorant people think are modern inventions. There were also beautiful pottery, sculpture and paintings, and fine metal and ivory work. In this little island of Crete the people lived peacefully and made great progress.
- (2) We have read the story of king Midas who got into great difficulties because he had been granted a boon by God Dionysus that everything he touched would turn into gold. He could not eat because his food became gold and what is the use of gold as food? He hugged his daughter and she too became a statue of gold. He was thus punished for his greed for gold. This is of course a fanciful story.
- (3) There is another story of Crete which some children may have heard. It is about Minotaur, supposed to be a monster, half man and half bull. It had the body of a man and the head of a bull. People of Crete were so much afraid of him that young men and young women were offered to him as food. So powerful was the feeling of fear. Even the idea of religion came to man through the fear of the unknown. And because of this fear and not understanding nature and much that happens around us, people used to do many foolish things. It is quite possible that young people were sacrificed in this way not to a real monster as such monsters did never exist.

(4) All over the world, in those ancient days, there was what is called human sacrifice. Men and women were sacrificed to imaginary beings whom people worshipped. Fortunately human sacrifices do not take place now. But even now some people kill animals as sacrifices to please God.

Complete the statements given below with the help of options that follow:

- (i) That people of Crete loved art is shown by : [1]
(A) the story of Midas
(B) pottery and sculpture
(C) bathrooms and water pipes
(D) their enormous palace
- (ii) The idea of religion came out of : [1]
(A) faith
(B) heaven
(C) fear
(D) nature
- (iii) Two examples that show that people of Crete lived a civilised life are _____. [1]
- (iv) The message given by the story of Midasis _____. [1]
- (v) Today at some places human sacrifice is replaced by _____. [1]
- (vi) Find words from the passage which mean
(a) huge (para 1) [1]
(b) gift (para 2) [1]

SECTION-A

[Marks : 15]

(Reading)

1. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow: [7]

- (1) The little island of Crete is in the Mediterranean Sea. Once upon a time there was a fine civilisation that flourished there. At Knossos in Crete there was an enormous palace and we have the remains of the palace still. In this palace there were bathrooms and water pipes, which some ignorant people think are modern inventions. There were also beautiful pottery, sculpture and paintings, and fine metal and ivory work. In this little island of Crete the people lived peacefully and made great progress.
- (2) We have read the story of king Midas who got into great difficulties because he had been granted a boon by God Dionysus that everything he touched would turn into gold. He could not eat because his food became gold and what is the use of gold as food? He hugged his daughter and she too became a statue of gold. He was thus punished for his greed for gold. This is of course a fanciful story.

- (3) There is another story of Crete which some children may have heard. It is about Minotaur, supposed to be a monster, half man and half bull. It had the body of a man and the head of a bull. People of Crete were so much afraid of him that young men and young women were offered to him as food. So powerful was the feeling of fear. Even the idea of religion came to man through the fear of the unknown. And because of this fear and not understanding nature and much that happens around us, people used to do many foolish things. It is quite possible that young people were sacrificed in this way not to a real monster as such monsters did never exist.
- (4) All over the world, in those ancient days, there was what is called human sacrifice. Men and women were sacrificed to imaginary beings whom people worshipped. Fortunately human sacrifices do not take place now. But even now some people kill animals as sacrifices to please God.

Complete the statements given below with the help of options that follow:

- (i) That people of Crete loved art is shown by : [1]
(A) the story of Midas
(B) pottery and sculpture
(C) bathrooms and water pipes
(D) their enormous palace
- (ii) The idea of religion came out of : [1]
(A) faith
(B) heaven
(C) fear
(D) nature
- (iii) Two examples that show that people of Crete lived a civilised life are _____. [1]
- (iv) The message given by the story of Midas is _____. [1]
- (v) Today at some places human sacrifice is replaced by _____. [1]
- (vi) Find words from the passage which mean
(a) huge (para 1) [1]
(b) given (para 2) [1]

2. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow: [8]

(1) A sense of humour is what separates man from other living beings. Man knows how to laugh at others and even at himself. We, human beings cannot do without humour. We cannot enjoy our conversations, our dialogues if we cannot add humour to them to make others smile or laugh. We don't know how to spend our time when we are alone or sad. We need company of others and humour lightens our day and we share common interests with others. When we know what to say and when to say it helps us to build healthy relationships. Sometimes humour tends to lead us into difficult situations when we exaggerate our point and thus tease others.

(2) Humour used with a healthy mind is always successful. It makes us laugh and also amuses the person we are laughing with. In such a situation we gain trust and generate a feeling of cooperation. We lose our feeling of loneliness; we accept that we too can make mistakes and we look for good in others. Most important is a sense of fellow feeling a sense of belonging.

However, a situation may develop in which we may lose our sense of humour. In that case we either become offensive to others and become defensive for ourselves. We either blame others or blame ourselves for humorous remarks made by us or for us. Important thing to note is what is said and how it is said.

In any case, humour is part of soft skills required to communicate with others. We need a few well-chosen words first to draw the attention of others and then make a serious point without becoming offensive.

Answer the questions given below with the help of options that follow:

(i) How can we finish our sadness and loneliness? [1]

- (A) by making fun of others
- (B) by laughing at ourselves
- (C) by sharing humour with others
